Dear Mr. Stibolt:

We are a law firm and have been a client of your firm for the past year and a half.

I am writing to express our great satisfaction with one of your employees, Jason Bush. We have been working with Jason over the past several weeks to replace all of the Macs – including the server and internet configuration – in our office. We could not be more pleased.

From our first meeting with him, Jason has offered us confident, expert advice regarding the technical needs of our network as well as the needs of individual employees in the firm. He has shown a deep knowledge of any possible technical and logistical issues we might have and has consistently offered us practical, customized recommendations for all aspects of technology in our office.

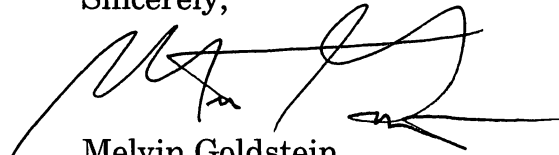

Furthermore, I truly believe Jason has gone above and beyond all expectation since the installation of our new computers. He has stayed in consistent contact with me and my staff and has been quick to respond to all questions. Jason also took a great deal of initiative in determining the inadequacies of our former internet provider as well as the unreasonable prices it was charging our firm. He stayed in close contact to advise us as we located a new provider and then took the time to oversee personally the transition from one to the other. That transition, I might add, proceeded quickly and flawlessly.

In short, we have been extremely glad to have Jason working with us, and we are consistently impressed by the expertise and care he demonstrates in addressing our needs. We look forward to continuing to work with Jason and MacMedics in the future.

Sincerely,
